HE IS TOO GOOD.

Rudini Will Not at Once Proceeds to Extremities.

GIVES US ONE CHANCE FOR OUR LIVES.

Uncertainty as to What Is Going on at Rome—Minister Porter Has Had No Notice to Quit.

ROME, April 13.—Up to noon today it has been impossible to learn anything concerning the report that the Italian Cabinet has decided to demand that United States Minister Porter leave Rome in case no reply to Premier Rudini's last note is received from Secretary Blaine by tomorrow. The officials are reticent and journalists are unable to secure a definite confirmation or denial. At the American Legation nothing could be learned. Minister Porter has heard nothing except what he has read in the papers. In well informed circles the prevailing opinion, as nearly as one can gather, is that the Premier will not proceed to extremities at this juncture.

NOT CRITICAL.

NEW YORK, April 13.—A Washington special says: The letter from Secretary Blaine to Premier Rudini has not yet been sent, according to the best advices from the Department of State. The appearance of things at the department is somewhat less tranquil than on Saturday, though the idea of hostilities is still pooh-poohed as absurd. The President's preparations for his trip have not been changed in any respect, and this is considered a sign that he, at least, does not deem the situation at all critical.

A PICKWICKIAN RUPTURE.

NEW YORK, April 13.—A Washington to the Commercial Advertiser says: "There is a possibility that the correspondence between Blaine and the Marquis Di Rudini will be given out this evening or tomorrow morning. It depends upon the decision of the President. The situation has not improved as regards the relations between the United States and Italy, and whether it occurs now or later on, the recall of Porter and the complete rupture of diplomatic relations is likely. Failing to get satisfaction Italy will have to make some demonstrations of displeasure. What she has already done might be a sufficient demonstration if made after we failed to comply with her demands, but her minister having been re-called before offense, she must seek some other expressions of displeasure after the offense to make a complete diplomatic rupture. This is the least she can do, having already done so much, and it is the most she can afford to do in the face of the complication of European affairs and the poverty of her treasury."

THE CHICAGO ELECTION.

The Canvass of the Votes Proceeds Very Slowly.

CHICAGO, April 13.—The Board of Election Commissioners this morning resumed the official canvass of the vote cast at the last election.

The First ward was canvassed Saturday, and the board took up the Second ward. When completed two precincts were held subject to a later revision.

The result for Mayor, compared with the police returns made on the night of the election, showed a gain of 4 for Cregier (Democrat) and losses of 17 by Hempstead Washburne (Republican), 69 by Elmer Washburne (Citizen) and 34 by Harrison (Independent Democrat). The only change in the Third ward was a gain of one vote by Morgan (Socialist). The only change in the Fourth ward was a loss of 19 votes by Elmer Washburne.

Nebeker, who, it is understood, will succeed Huston as Treasurer, called at the White House this morning and had a talk with the President.

The President late this afternoon appointed Enos H. Nebeker of Indiana United States Treasurer, vice Huston, resigned.

The Dickinsons Engaged in Contradiction.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Anna Dickinson meets the statements of her sister Susan with a denial as sweeping and energetic as Susan's own reply to the allegations in the remarkable issue between them. The train to which they were attached passed through a cyclone and hailstorm near Torreon, Mexico, on Saturday night. So large were the hailstones that the headlight of the engine and every pane of glass on one side of the train of cars were smashed. The tin roof was battered so badly that not a particle of paint remained. Several persons in the day coaches were injured and a Mexican at Torreon was killed. The passengers say the cyclone must have created great havoc.

Mr. G. H. Garthorne, Chairman of Ordinance and Judiciary Committee—DEAR SIR: In my opinion the ordinance, if passed and approved, would be invalid, for the reason that the subject matter embraces more than one subject, in violation of Section 19 of the Charter of the city of Oakland.

A Splendid Exhibition at Chicago. Something That Will Interest the People of That City.

CHICAGO, April 13.—The most novel and interesting exhibition of the products of the earth ever seen east of the Rocky mountains will open tonight at the Exposition building. It is the Southern California Citrus Fair, and is a reproduction of that recently held so successfully at Los Angeles, with some additions and some enlargements. For instance, Orange county, which did not take part in the show at Los Angeles, has a fine exhibit here, and the Pasadena orange tower is reproduced on a larger scale. The interior of the great Exposition building is a busy scene today. The finishing touches are put to the various exhibits and the decorations are being put in place. By tonight every one of the half million pieces of fruit used in it will be in place and ready for inspection. The oranges, of course, form the chief part of the exhibit, but these are supplemented and combined in a very artistic and pleasing manner, with lemons, citrons, dates, nuts, palm trees and branches of banana trees, pampas grass and plumes, calla lilies, bamboos, guavas and other tropical and semi-tropical products of that wonderfully productive State.

"I have just returned from Omaha," said he, "and I can promise you a sensation in the course of ten days. I have been making an investigation there and have evidence that the Contract alien Labor Law is being grossly violated. Certain large concerns there employ a large number of men and have been importing alien laborers in direct defiance of the law. It will be a big surprise, as the concerns implicated are known all over the world and have a reputation for honesty that has been unquestioned. A CURE FOR INSOMNIA

A MILD TRANSPALUDAL EXCITEMENT.

The Local Papers Call the Scene Wild, but the Wildness Is That of the Sunday-School Picnic.

Alameda is enjoying the fun of its regular biennial election today. It is not boisterous fun, however. Alameda never gets boisterous. It is eminently quiet and genteel in everything. Today a stranger in the peninsular city would not have known that anything more exciting than a Sunday School picnic or a convocation of ministers was being held. Few people were on the streets or about the polling places, though a full vote was being polled. Up to noon no arrests had been made and no rows had been heard of. All the saloons were closed and the usual Sabbath quiet prevailed.

This would have surprised a new comer who had read the local papers on the situation before election day. The fight is solely on the question of $500 a year or $200 a year for a liquor license. The ticket favoring the higher license is called the "Regular Non-Partisan," and the low-license advocates support the "Citizens' Non-Partisan Ticket." The Daily Statesman, a recently established daily, is the champion of the low-license cause, while the Daily News, Daily Encinal, and Semi-Weekly Argus favor high license, the last named paper being most decisively the champion of the Regular Non-Partisan ticket.

For some time these papers have given the outside world to understand that Alameda was popping in Alameda over the election. A stranger who had read the papers and who knew little about Alameda went over to see the fun. He expected to see the streets crowded with a yelling, pulling, punching mob, bearing banners and shouting "High License!" "Low License!" as they plied their fists. He firmly believed that gangs of San Francisco and Oakland toughs would be contending at each polling place with members of the Young Men's Christian Association and Ministerial Union from all over the State, vieing with each other in stuffing ballot-boxes and casting fraudulent votes. He was nerved to witness a spectacle resembling a Sligo contest between Parnellites and McCarthyites, or a misunderstanding between union and non-union sailors on the San Francisco water front.

Instead of which, he saw white-winged peace in the person of a star-breasted policeman going to sleep on a corner, because of the lack of noise and for the want of something to do. Alameda was the Land o' Nod. Even brother Halstead of the Statesman refrained from going around the corner to put a mansard roof over the deep brown eye of Brother Daniels of the Argus. Instead of a Damascene blade, Brother Krauth of the Encinal was wielding an inoffensive "shooting stick," while Brother Taylor of the News was neither thirsting for gore nor attired in sounding brass. Even a dog-fight would have been a welcome break in the awful harmony.

At the headquarters of the Regulars in the Masonic Temple there was a conspicuous absence of armed men with "grim determination written on their faces." The only clenched teeth were those which were engaged in biting industriously the Alameda noonday pie served at a neighboring bakery. Not a soul nor a sound was in the headquarters. One aged man, sitting half-asleep at a desk, kept the headquarters of the non-partisan citizens from being equally unoccupied and uninteresting. His only hope was that after the saloons were opened at 5 o'clock there would be enough noise to awaken him in time for dinner.

Still, there were indications that a full vote would be polled, over half the ballots at most of the precincts being in before 11 o'clock. Few men were peddling tickets, and nearly all the voters came to the polls with their ballots in their vest pockets. Both sides had distributed tickets with great liberality, and considerable scratching was expected. Detective Dennis Holland of Oakland strolled about the streets. He was supposed to be watching for illegal voters, but his vigil on Park street was so devoid of excitement that Charles S. Neal, one of the leaders of the high-license movement, came along and took him for a drive over some of the new streets to keep him from an attack of ennui. The high-license people had by far the best of it in the way of buggies, carriages and banners, but few people came to the polls in the vehicles, and those which were not used for pleasure generally had their horses tied to hitching-posts. Many of the "rigs" were hired in Oakland, but Alameda could have furnished all that were really necessary.

Notwithstanding the quiet prevailing today a thorough canvass has been made by both parties, and the struggle really has been warm—for Alameda. A great deal of interest has been manifested, and there has been more excitement (Alameda excitement) than at any previous local election, not excepting that of four years ago, when City Marshal Cook and all the old-timers were swept out of office.

The Low License people adopted the American flag as their emblem. On the banner stretched across the street at their headquarters is a representation of Old Glory and the motto, "Our flag insures equal rights to all," with the admonition, "Vote the Citizens' Ticket." At each polling place the tables where the Citizens' tickets are distributed are decorated with small flags. On the banner of the Regular or high license party are the the mottoes, "Improve our city" and "Protect our homes."

The mild Alameda excitement really led to two fistic encounters, one of which was a knock-down. The talk about this has kept the election today from being prescribed by physicians as a sure cure for insomnia.

The participants were J. H. Hubachek, a well-known druggist and a member of the Executive Committee of the Citizens' Party, and William M. Rank, manager of the California Improvement Company and a member of the Executive Committee of the High License party. Mr. Rank had caused to be inserted in the Encinal, one of the High License organs, a squib poking a little fun at Mr. Hubachek. This gentleman had once made complaint to the City Trustees that loafers—"curbstone statues," he called them—were in the habit of standing in front of his store to the detriment of his business, and he wanted them to be made to move on. The squib stated that Mr. Hubachek was hand-in-glove with these same loafers in his advocacy of the Citizens' ticket. Mr. Hubachek took offense at the article and learned that its author was Mr. Rank. Meeting Rank in front of the Postoffice Saturday afternoon he spoke quite plainly to him and ended by calling him a liar. No sooner had the druggist pronounced the word when he was sent sprawling on the street by a vigorous blow from the athletic Mr. Rank. Friends of both parties interfered and stopped further sanguinary proceedings.

The second row occurred last evening near St. Joseph's Church. A young man named Grimes has been making the statement that Rosseter, nominee for Trustee on the High License ticket, had once failed and paid 10 cents on the dollar. Rosseter met Grimes near the church and took him to task about the assertion. Grimes plainly repeated it to his face, whereupon Rosseter struck at him, but Grimes warded off the blow. Then the two were separated. No arrests. No damage.

More trouble was caused by City Attorney Taylor, who is one of the high license leaders. The low license people sent out boys to distribute a circular signed "Prohibitionist." This circular advised against voting the High License ticket and used the following argument:

I am inclined to give you a picture which is more than probable, because it is drawn from the experience of wrecked lives. Imagine your dashing boy and his companions to have heard their loved mothers giving the unfortunate advice to their fathers to vote for high license. These boys are passing down Park street and halt in front of the high-toned Palace Saloon, whose proprietors have become monopolists by the grace of the non-partisan, high license success. These boys have an eye for the beautiful, and as they admire the gay paintings and gilt sign, the door swings open and they have a glimpse of the alluring interior. Fine paintings are on the walls, and bright with clean decanters and cut glass and silver. George invites John to invade with him this sanctuary of Bacchus. John has never been inside a saloon and objects. George tells him that neither has he ever been inside a saloon, but he heard his mother advise father to vote for high license and it must be all right. This man had to pay $400 just for the privilege of selling liquor and we young fellows ought to help support his saloon. "If that were wrong, do you suppose your mother and mine would have begged our fathers to vote for high license? Why, even our minister gave the people the same advice. It must be as correct as buying candy or nuts." Finally they enter; they do not see the invisible but real sign over the door: "They who enter here leave hope behind." Inside all is bright, beautiful and alluring. A polite barkeeper welcomes them, and in the rear of the room is a pool-table, and several of their Sunday school class-mates are playing a game of drinks. It takes very little argument for George and John to join in the game, and at its close they are furnished a mild but wondrously pleasant drink called mint julep. The barkeeper is too wise to give them a drink that would excite their suspicions by its strength. Later on in its whisky and lemon, and after no great while closer whisky, which soon brings inebriation until the boys have arrived at the sad state, of which their mothers have been unsuspicious. They have never dreamed that the hours they were absent were spent in these gilded palaces, for whose existence they urged their husbands to vote. The non-partisan appeal has got in its deadly work and the deceived mothers have as surely put the bottle to the mouths of their darling boys as though they had accompanied them to the 500 saloon. Later the appeal to the boys, who with brutal truth stab them to the heart by reminding them of the appeals they had made to fathers to vote for Randolph, Forderer and Rosseter, the bearers of the banner for high license.

City Attorney Taylor met two of the boys who were distributing this circular, and grabbing the circulars from their hands, tore them up and threw them in the mud. A howl was raised by the low license people at this assault upon the boys. Taylor excused his action by saying that the lads were violating the law against distributing handbills. However, if the Low License ticket is successful, Taylor's official head will be demanded as the first sacrifice to propitiate the outraged feelings of the "citizens."

There is also quite a contest going on for School Directors. A few weeks ago J. A. Leonard, a prominent citizen, made the charge that the schools of Alameda are inefficient and display a lamentable lack in discipline. It is asserted by the friends of the present Board of Education that the charges were made for political purposes, and were especially directed against Mr. Mayrisch, who has been a director for the past sixteen years. Mr. Mayrisch is a German and his friends say the opposition is based on this fact. In consequence, his friends, especially those among the Germans are making extra efforts to secure his re-election. On the Citizens' ticket, the nominees for School Directors are the incumbents, Mayrisch, Knowles and Lanktree, while the High License nominees are Col. P. T. Dickenson, Dr. T. P. Tisdale and Mr. Lanktree.

The German vote, which is quite large in Alameda, is not entirely solid for low license, though the majority of the former subjects of the Kaiser are supposed to incline that way. A rumor was prevalent that most of the Prohibitionists would not vote, as they do not believe in licensing saloons either at a high or low figure. The high-license people expect, however, that the prohibition colony near High street will help them carry the First precinct.

Attorney E. B. Tappan is one of the leaders of the low license movement. He said today that no one could foretell the result. The high license people had cast a heavy vote in the morning and gone to San Francisco. The vote during the middle of the day he believed to be in favor of low license. There was no suck in the hands of the low license men, he said, notwithstanding the charges of the high license advocates. This was amply shown by the fact that the Citizens' party had not quite paid all its bills yet. "There is no peddling tickets, and few people are coming up in carriages," he concluded. "All the voters were supplied with ballots. We distributed 2500 last night. So both sides can claim all they please, but no one knows anything about the result."

The argument which the Citizens' party chiefly used during the campaign was that a $500 license is unnecessary because under the law the Trustees have absolute power to refuse a saloon license and to revoke, and having this power, the number of saloons throughout the city could be limited and regulated as the welfare of the city demands.

Both sides say they favor opening streets, but the Citizens charge the Regulars with insincerity. The Regulars issued the following card:

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD.

Having received reliable and positive information that a large sum of money has been contributed by the Liquor Interest in San Francisco and sent over to Alameda to aid their brethren in the coming election, the Executive Committee of the regular Non-Partisan ticket hereby offers a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of any and every person fraudulently voting, or offering to fraudulently vote at said election.

E. K. TAYLOR,
Chairman Executive Committee.

This was met by the Citizens with the following sarcastic rejoinder:

$100 REWARD.

Having received reliable information that the Local Option Alliance and the State Prohibition party of San Francisco have contributed a sack of $2000 to the "Regular Non-Partisan" clique of Alameda to corrupt the voters of this city and to induce ladies to insist on voting, the Executive Committee of the Citizens' Non-Partisan party hereby offer a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of any and every person fraudulently voting, offering to vote or bribe others to vote at the election April 13, 1891.

J. T. FLEMING,
Chairman Executive Committee.

And so the merry war was waged, each side circulating appeals to voters by the thousand. The two tickets in the field are in full as follows:

Citizens' Non-Partisan Ticket. (low license)—For Trustees: Stanley Stephenson, William Hammond, Frederick Wild; members of the Board of Education: A. Mayrisch, W. A. L. Knowles, J. B. Lanktree; City Treasurer, James B. Barber; City Assessor, Louis H. Schoenau; City Marshal, O. L. Rogers; City Recorder, Charles Ignay.

An expression of opinion is also being obtained on the policy of changing the names of the streets. Neither party has taken sides in the matter, however.

In the West End the election is running very quietly. All the saloons are closed, and no drinks can be had for love nor money. The high license people say they will win in all but the Ninth precinct on Webster street. Not much scratching is done except in the Ninth precinct, where it is said Mayrisch is being scratched a little for Dr. Tisdale. Lanktree and Rogers are also being scratched, but as Mr. Lanktree is on both tickets, the object of scratching is obscure.

In the Seventh precinct 145 votes out of 214 had been polled at 12 o'clock. Dr. Tisdale was there working hard for his ticket. When asked concerning the way in which the election was running he said: "We are sure of carrying this precinct anyway and expect to carry at least five out of the nine precincts straight. In the Ninth we expect nothing, as that is the stronghold of the low-license men, yet nevertheless we will make a good run there. We will carry this precinct and the First, most probably. The Second we are sure of, and the Fourth will be mighty close if we don't get there. In the Third matters are doubtful, but in the Fifth and Sixth we will beat them 4 to 1. Oh, these low license people are not in it."

There has been no fighting or noise of any kind for even the back doors of the saloons are shut. A. P. King reiterated Dr. Tisdell's statement. In the Eighth precinct, George P. Plummer was everywhere at once, helping along the Regular Non-Partisan ticket. He was of the opinion that his ticket would go through straight. A. M. Hill was also holding up high license, and presented every voter with a ticket. He was very jubilant over the prospects. The Citizens' ticket was not represented here.

In the Ninth Thomas A. Smith, candidate for City Treasurer, paced restlessly to and fro. He seemed slightly disappointed at the way the ticket was running there. This precinct was considered the one necessary for the high license people to do the hardest work in, consequently several of the candidates took their stand near the poll. D. L. Randolph candidate, for trustee, and several others were there. They expressed confidence. On the other hand some of the low license advocates offered to bet that their side would win.

T. W. Leydecker championed low license here. He was sure of his precinct, but as to the other precincts he could not say.

AN ILLEGAL PRIVILEGE.

The Permission to Whittier, Fuller & Co., to Build An Oil Warehouse.

The City Attorney Holds That the Resolution Granting the Privilege Is Not Valid.

Chairman Garthorne of the Ordinance and Judiciary Committee of the Council on Saturday addressed a letter to City Attorney Johnson, as follows:

On March 25th the City Council passed a resolution, No. 16,969, by which permit and license was granted to Whittier, Fuller & Co. to erect and maintain, for the purpose of storing the refined products of petroleum, a building on the northwesterly corner of First and Myrtle streets. We are informed that no motion to reconsider the passage of said resolution was made, and that the firm of Whittier, Fuller & Co., acting under the authority conferred upon them by said resolution, have made contracts, etc., looking toward the carrying out of the privileges granted them by said resolution. Your attention is also directed to an ordinance entitled: "An Ordinance Regulating the Storage of the Refined Products of Petroleum," approved May 19, 1890.

Mr. Johnson's reply, to be presented this evening, will be:

The provisions of the ordinance referred to in your communication require that the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, the Fire Warden and a majority of the Fire and Water Committee of the City Council must recommend as suitable any building in which it is proposed to store the refined products of petroleum before any license for such storage can be secured. In the case under consideration the required recommendation has not been made, and therefore, in my opinion, resolution 16,969, passed by the City Council on the 25th of March last, is invalid and confers no authority, permission or privilege of any kind to the firm of Whittier, Fuller & Co.

A DANGEROUS PLACE.

The Crossing of Twelfth Street and Broadway Still Torn Up.

Just how long the contractors who are laying bitumen on upper Broadway will leave the crossing of that thoroughfare with Twelfth street in an impassable condition of course is not known, but certain it is that at Twelfth street and Broadway the roadway has been torn up for too many days. The car-tracks stand nearly eight inches above the rest of the street and it is all one's vehicle is worth to drive along Broadway at that point. This afternoon Dr. A. M. Taylor was driving on the street with a lady in his buggy, and at Twelfth street he turned out for an approaching car. The result was a dished wheel and it might have been far more serious an accident if the horse had been in any way wild.

More Hidden Money Found.

Yesterday Joe Harley, a German cabinet maker, repairing an old mahogany escritoire recently imported from Holland by a well-known auction house of this city, accidently discovered a secret drawer containing 40,000 marks (about $10,000) in Dutch script. He turned his find over to his employers, J. L. Lyon & Son, who divided it up. Young Lyon now wears a diamond as big as a walnut.

ANEXCITING CHASE.

A Vision of War on Broadway This Morning.

Five Italians with hair disheveled and a general demeanor of much excitement, created considerable alarm at noon today by running down Broadway at a frantic rate of speed. One of them brandished in the air a sheet of yellow paper, which the alarmed passers-by deemed to be a cablegram or some important war news from Italy, and with the idea of seeing what was intended, numbers ran in the way of the fleeing quintet, and soon fully 200 people were engaged in the chase. At Tenth street the Italians turned, and then put on a terrific spurt, as if their goal was near. So the excitement became heightened, especially when they dashed into the office of the People's Express Company, at No. 423. The crowd poured in thick and strong and listened intently to what, however, simply to be an order for one of the company's wagons to call and ship the foreigner's trunks to San Francisco.

"We wanta them over very quicka" said the leader of the party.

"Well, you bet they've struck the right place for that" remarked a bystander, as the crowd dispersed.

A Fine Testimonial.

OAKLAND, March 17th, 1891.

Having suffered for a long time from a peculiar stomach trouble, originally caused from the use of tobacco. I tried many physicians, but found no permanent relief until I consulted Dr. Bluett, 1069 Broadway, Oakland, and under whose treatment I have entirely recovered. I would urge upon all sufferers from indigestion and dyspepsia to apply to him at once, and I am satisfied that you will never regret it. I consider the doctor permanently qualified to treat troubles of this nature.

P. Kroughlair, who owns the restaurant under the Union Hotel, came near meeting his death from the knife of an angry cook last evening. Kroughlair accused the cook of feeding too many tramps, which charge the cook denied. Words led to blows and a few blows terminated in the cook drawing a knife, and but for a convenient back door and a fleet pair of heels a frightful stabbing affray would have taken place. The cook was arrested.

H. H. Nagle has detailed a detective to investigate the stealing of the English flag from the front of his residence on the evening that the Social Guild of the Church of the Advent held an entertainment there. Mr. Nagle accuses two of the guests present with purloining the British ensign. Some interesting facts will come to light if the matter is investigated, as it appears that some of East Oakland's best citizens were connected with the matter. They did not like the looks of the English flag alongside of an American flag and so tore it down.

The Lay Evangelists.

The meetings conducted by Messrs. Crittenton and Carpenter at the First Methodist Church are accomplishing much good. About thirty conversions are already reported, and the congregations are growing so rapidly that a tent is being negotiated for in which the meetings are to be carried forward. They will be held in the church, however, during this week. Mr. Crittenton when converted about nine years ago consecrated his ample fortune to mission and evangelistic work, and is paying about $1500 monthly to the support of the missions founded by him, chief among which is the Florence Night Mission, New York, for which he has set apart two large buildings, and into which he has put about $150,000. In his evangelistic work on this coast he pays all his own expenses, even meeting his own hotel bills until coming here. Mr. Crittenton is a leading member of Holy Trinity Church (Protestant Episcopal), Harlem, N. Y.

Postal-Box Locks.

The Postoffice today received from Washington a lot of new spring locks with instructions to use them at once instead of the locks now used on the mail-boxes and letter-pouches.

The reason for the change is not known.

Whenever a lock goes wrong in the Postal Department the local officials have immediately to send it to Washington. They are not allowed to have it repaired on the spot. Consequently no one but the Government locksmiths know the secret of the peculiar locks that are used.

DAN M'CARTY LEASES THE HEARST FARM.

Condition of the Crops in Murray Township—The Farmers' Alliance. District Notes.

Political Defiottion.
Pleasanton Times.

What is an "outrageous gerrymander?" asks an anxious correspondent. As near as we can make out it is the redistricting of your State by the political party to which you are opposed.

The Third Trial.
Livermore Herald.

Burdette Cornell, the Farmers' Alliance organizer, made another attempt to organize an alliance here last Friday, but without success. This was the third unsuccessful attempt, and the matter will probably be dropped for the present.

Gas or Electric Light?
Livermore Herald.

The Livermore Town Council advertises to receive bids for lighting the streets of the town for five years, either by electricity or gas. If by gas, forty street lamps are provided for. If by electricity, it is proposed to have eleven masts, as at present. Bids will be opened on Monday evening, April 20th.

An Enterprising Thief.
Livermore Herald.

Constable Frost of San Jose, came to Livermore this week and took from Henry Twisselman a horse and cart which the latter had purchased from a man named Davis about a month ago for $30. Davis was arrested recently, near Half Moon Bay. This is the sixth rig he has stolen, five of which have been recovered.

The Hearst Stock Farm.
Pleasanton Times.

It is reported by very good authority that Dan McCarthy, familiarly known on the turf as "White Hat McCarthy," has purchased the Hearst ranch just below town and that he will soon take possession of the same and commence the building of a fine track for training and racing purposes. The work of converting this ranch into a stock farm for racing animals was already commenced by the late Senator Hearst, but all operations ceased at his death. Now, if the reported sale to McCarthy be true, and we hope it is, the work will in all probability be continued until completed.

Crop Prospects in Murray Township.
Livermore Herald.

The recent storm came just at the right time, when the ground was getting hard, and volunteer oats, stunted by the dry weather early in the season, was heading out at a height of but a few inches above the ground. With occasional showers this month a new growth will be stimulated which will more than quadruple the crop of oat hay. Without this storm but little would have been cut in this vicinity. Grain is also being greatly benefited by the rain. In places the growth was being checked by the hardening of the ground, and the grain in particular will appreciate its beneficial effect in renewed growth. The light lands will produce good crops this season and the heavy lands better.

Haywards Journal.

At a quarter to 6 o'clock Friday morning the angel of death called Henry Petermann, and the brave spirit that has so heroically battled against sickness, has passed from this life to the one beyond.

The deceased was a native of Hanover, Germany, aged 56 years, 9 months and 4 days, and had resided in California for about thirty years. He first located in San Francisco, but by the advice of his doctor selected Mount Eden as his future home, and has lived here ever since. His store at Mount Eden is one of the familiar landmarks, and he has held the office of Postmaster for many years and this year he retired and was succeeded by his eldest son, Henry, as agent for Uncle Sam. He was a member of Sycamore Lodge of Odd Fellows and Alameda Encampment.

The deceased had a wide acquaintance in this county and San Francisco, and he was held in the highest esteem by all. He was one of the most kind-hearted of men, and his sympathy for those in need was known only to those whose hearts were made glad by his generous acts. He was an honorable, straightforward man, a devoted husband and father, and he came about as near being a true Christian in every sense of the word as any man we ever met. He fully carried out the meaning of the old motto, "Do ye unto others as ye would have others do unto you." He leaves a wife and eight children—Minnie, Henry, Fred, Mamie, George, Bennie, Alice Petermann and Mrs. G. A. Oakes—besides relatives in the East, to mourn his loss.

Our druggist, A. J. Hassler, is one of the most enthusiastic members of the Native Son's gymnasium, and his venturesome spirit has been for the time being curbed by a painful accident that happened to him last Saturday evening while turning a somersault, which resulted in having three toes of the left foot dislocated. He suffered severe pain in getting them in place.

THE local members of the Academic Amateur Athletic Association have recently improved very much as kickers. Still, they do not do the kicking with the members who need practice to win football games.

SOMEBODY who is interested in "Indian rights" is sending out circulars about the "murder of Few Tails," which we presume is one of the Indian wrongs, but in fine it is difficult to feel sorry for a man named Few Tails, if it was a man.

IT seems that the American cartoonist and his slighting references to "de monk" are likely to be elevated to the distinction of a casus belli. We are told that Italy's Queen is sorely angered at American irreverence for that sacred animal.

THE City Council of Victoria, B. C., has invited President Harrison to visit them and offers to send a warship to ferry him over the Sound. Of course the President cannot leave the soil of the United States and besides these clever Canadians might want to steal him.

JUST now things are going the way of Bismarck and Crispi. The bad break which Emperor William made in sending his mother to Paris and the queer international spectacle which Rudini is making of himself go to show that stronger hands are needed if the dogs of war are to be held in lash.

IT is stated that the troops detailed to guard the newly reserved Yosemite and Sequoia parks will not allow fishing with rod and line within their limits. This is probably a mistake, because fishing is allowed in the Yellowstone Park, and there is no reason why it should not in the California national parks.

AN observant reporter notes the fact that Warden Hale of San Quentin prison wears a uniform less expressed in fancy than that which was wont to cover the wide and billowy surface of John McComb in all his glory. From these observations we learn that San Quentin uniforms are not uniform, but may either be triumphs of decorative art and an Oriental imagination, or merely the sober expression of a soul above brass buttons.

R. W. WATERMAN is dead. A very few months ago he was Governor of California and an object of not very respectful consideration among certain people who thought perhaps that they might score a point by abusing him. He was a man who made mistakes, as most of us do, and his high station brought these into notice. His training was not such as fitted him for the duties of an office too difficult to fill with satisfaction to everybody. Now that he is dead we have no doubt that those who abused him in his lifetime will be ready to acknowledge his honesty of purpose.

WHILE Italy is walking around begging us to tread on the tail of its coat, we hear that France and Russia no longer make any secret of their amicable intention to fall upon Germany "and tear her limb from limb." True or false the story has sufficient basis of fact to show that the whole force of the Dreibund may be needed at any moment to take care of itself, and the present situation suggests the fact that the astute Crispi is forcing the hand of the absurd Marquis Rudini by exciting popular clamor to drive him into the untenable position of picking a quarrel with the most powerful nation in the world.

IT was inevitable when Dr. Briggs formulated the new Presbyterianism in his recent famous address at the Union Theological Seminary that it would precipitate a conflict between the old and new schools. We do not hear so much of these differences of opinion on this coast, and it is certain that if the coming trial for heresy were held here Dr. Briggs would be formally driven from the church. The truth is that he is not a Presbyterian at all in the real sense, but as there not a great many real Presbyterians in the church at the East he has a considerable following. He does not believe in the verbal inspiration of the Bible and rejects whatever will not stand the test of reason, and he believes in probation after death, or, as he calls it, "progressive sanctification" after death.

The Ladies and the Preachers.

The Rev. J. Herndon Garnett of this city says, in the Baptist Leader:

When we first saw preachers turn politicians and lovely ladies becoming lobbyists, we cried victory and thought we had it. We went in like the rest and with the sweet women and the dear pastors we "whooped up" elections and sang and shouted, "On to the polls for God and Home and Native Land." It was lovely too, while we were flying. * * * We are now satisfied that there is no greater failure under the sun than the preacher as a politician. We have heard somewhere a gospel about cobblers sticking to the last, and we have done trying to work political wires.

The church will not gain sympathy by using the world's weapons. * * * We are at present fighting the saloon with weapons of the world; we need to fight saloon keepers with Christian weapons. saloon keepers are men and ought to be reasoned with and prayed for, that God by His grace may enable them to see the error of their way. One thing sure, the Christian is a failure when hatred against anybody moves him to action.

We cannot altogether agree with the reverend gentleman. Anything which adds variety and breadth to our politics adds to the interest, and besides the ladies and clergy learn some things in a line in which their education has been hitherto conspicuously neglected. They learn for one thing that politics is necessarily an affair of compromises and that so long as there is freedom of opinion and as many men as many minds, things cannot be carried with a high hand. It is the spirit of Mr. Garnett's utterance which leads the lone prohibitionary to go off and flock by himself on the top of of a high hill bewailing the wickedness a world which will not see everything through his blue spectacles. Why should Mr. Garnett want to place the ladies and the preachers on a reservation as if they were dangerous to be at large?

A SORT of special Providence seems to preside over the city's street fund. The showers which have so opportunely laid the dust have prevented the necessity of spending for street sprinkling the $1 25 now in the fund. This natural sprinkling, however, should be taken as the occasion for the Council to transfer money to the street fund and for the Board of Public Works to get the street sprinklers in order. Before long the dust will be blowing again, and the city should be prepared to fight it.

THE people want to see some flowers in the city parks and fewer shrubs and scrubs.

Mrs. R. H. Moskiman and daughter yesterday arrived home from a six weeks' visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dennis of San Luis Obispo.

George Solomon, who went to Bakersfield some months ago to fill a lucrative position, is here on a visit to his mother, residing in North Oakland.

J. K. Peirsol, who has been confined to his home since the 1st of the month with a severe attack of la grippe, has sufficiently recovered to be at his office.

Mrs. J. T. Fleming of Alameda, accompanied by her youngest son, left for Santa Barbara Sunday morning to spend the season as the invited guests of George Packard and daughters.

W. E. Hale, the new Warden of the State Prison at San Quentin, wears a uniform on state occasions, such as the meetings of the Board of Prison Directors, but it is severely plain—much less gorgeous than the regalia in which his predecessor, John McComb, appeared at meetings.

Hon. George J. Campbell, who during the past two sessions of the Legislature has ably represented Sonoma county in the Senate, was in Oakland on Saturday visiting friends and renewing acquaintances. Senator Campbell is a Republican, and when the Legislature is not in session is a hardworking mechanic.

A very pleasant surprise party was given to F. N. Burns at his parents residence, 75 Valley street, Friday evening last. The following persons were present: Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Burns, Miss R. Roff, J. N. Fogarty, C. Palmer, Miss L. E. Burns, J. Parrah, C. L. Brocklinge, G. Clark, Miss Aggie Georgiami, M. Bronner, F. N. Burns, Miss M. Derrah, Miss M. Roff, Miss T. Durrah, C. E. Burns, W. Bartels, Miss Maggie Parrah. All enjoyed themselves to a late hour, when a sumptuous supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Crittenden of Niles gave a dancing party last Friday evening, a sort of house-warming, as they have recently put quite an extensive addition to their house. Eighty invitations had been sent out, and fully fifty guests were present. The house had been profusely decorated for the evening by Mrs. C. E. Overacker and Miss Florence Mortimer, who really excelled all previous efforts. Willow, acacia and poppies were used, the soft green and puff of the willow and acacia and the brilliant yellow of the poppy blending most charmingly. Great wheels, wreaths and festoons were everywhere. The reception rooms, on either side of the parlors, were decorated with a wealth of lilac blooms. The refreshments were dainty and daintily served. Souvenir programmes were provided. The music was by the Merlino Brothers, and the merry dancers were sorry when the strains of "Home, Sweet Home" warned them that it was time to depart.

GOVERNOR WATERMAN DEAD.

He Succumbs to Pneumonia After a Brief Illness.

Ex-Governor R. W. Waterman died yesterday at his home on Florence Heights, San Diego, the cause of his death being pneumonia. His end was painless and he was surrounded by many of the members of his family. The funeral will be held on Tuesday at San Diego. Pneumonia resulted from a cold contracted during the reception of Secretary of War Proctor.

R. W. Waterman was born at Fairfield, Herkimer county, N. Y., on December 15, 1826, making him 65 years old at the time of his death. His father died when he was a small lad, and his three brothers put him to service in a store at Syracuse, Ill., where he remained until 20 years old. In 1846 he opened a store at Belvidere, Ill. In 1847 he married Miss Jane Gardiner. Of seven children born to the union six are living. In 1850 he came across the plains to California, but remained only two years, returning to Illinois and becoming somewhat prominent in politics. He was Postmaster at Genoa under President Taylor. In 1873 he returned to California and located in San Bernardino. In conjunction with J. L. Porter he discovered the mines of the Calico district and made a fortune in mining, his income being estimated at $1000 a day, the famous Stonewall mine at Julian being his best property. In 1886 he was elected Lieutenant-Governor by the Republicans and Americans, and upon the death of Governor Washington Bartlett in September, 1887, he succeeded to the Chief Magistracy of the State. He went out of office on January 1st of this year.

To Start a Balky Horse.

To the Editor of the Tribune: SIR—In reference to the case of arrest for beating a horse cruelly and otherwise maltreating him on account of balking, may I say that I lately saw a case of the kind most humanely and effectively dealt with by simply bending up one of the forelegs and passing the hitching strap round it. After the leg had been held in this way for a matter of five to ten minutes, the horse was only too glad to go. I will ask other journals seeing this kindly to pass the information on. It is ignorance quite as much as brutality that causes the ill treatment of our faithful, invaluable servant, the horse, and let each one do what he can to dispel it. The strap or rope, or whatever may be used should not of course be fastened to anything which might lead to an accident, but held in, if possible another person's hand, while the driver keeps his seat and reins, for the horse is apt to start pretty briskly. HUMANITAS.

Oakland, April 13, 1891.

Death of an Old Resident.

T. L. Walker died at his home on Piedmont avenue yesterday morning at the age of nearly 56 years. He was closely concerned with the growth of this city in early days, arriving here from his birthplace, Belchertown, Mass., in November, 1859. He was the originator of the enterprise which afterward was incorporated as the Oakland Paving Company. He also represented, as agent, the Hartford and North British Insurance companies for several years. At the time of his death he was a member of the Odd Fellows' and Workmen's orders. He was a sincere and earnest Christian, and during the last months of his life a patient sufferer. He leaves a sorrowing wife and daughter, a sister (Mrs. Rev. J. H. Strong of Sunol), and a brother in Denver, besides many warm friends, to mourn his death.

THE McKEE TRACT.

The most Beautiful and most Accessible of Oakland Suburbs, near Lorin, on the Berkeley Branch Railroad.

LARGE LOTS. LARGE LOTS. The best and cheapest for speculation. The finest for homes.

This property is now being sold in large and small sized lots, at prices and terms that would induce any one to purchase; already numerous lots have been sold and several attractive dwellings connected for. Only 20 minutes to San Francisco; 9 minutes to Oakland; every train on the Berkeley branch railroad, with half hourly trips to San Francisco, stops at Adeline station on this property.

The new electric road from Oakland to Berkeley, which is now built and through the McKee tract, will be running by April 15th, 1891, and prices will then increase.

The thriving settlements of Lorin and Golden Gate (Klinkerville) with their picturesque homes, well laid streets, stores where everything desired can be purchased, fine public schools, churches and Postoffice facilities are adjoining the property offered for sale. New houses are being built on all sides; in fact no portion of Oakland is so rapidly advancing as this favored suburb. Over 50 new homes can be seen in course of construction between the city limits of Oakland and Lorin, and by the 1st of June the activity in this line will surprise the most sanguine. Is this not evidence enough that a lot in the McKee tract will increase in value?

Three great thoroughfares run through and past this tract, viz: Standford avenue, 120 feet wide, leading from Golden Gate City to the State University at Berkeley, and Adeline and Grove streets, both 80 feet in width, running from Oakland to Berkeley. Home-seekers and investors can do no better than to purchase at an early day.

Prices from $200 up—for the best locations. Terms; special inducements to builders:

Terms: One-fifth cash, balance in four equal yearly payments, with interest at eight per cent per annum. Title unquestionably perfect.

Send for price list, which will be forwarded by return mail, showing lots sold and prices for remaining lots. MENTION THIS PAPER.

By applying to the undersigned, intending purchasers will be driven out to the property and full information furnished.

WINDSOR!

Is located in the Richest Section of Sonoma County, in the Russian River Valley District. The town is built in a picturesque valley and is surrounded by the Largest Fruit, Grain and Vineyard Ranches in the county.

WINDSOR has several General Merchandise Stores, Manufactory of Agricultural Implement sand Windmills, two large wineries, Fruit-packing and canning Establishment, Hotel, Livery Stable, Wells Fargo Express Office, Telegraph and Post Office and every convenience of a large city.

WINDSOR as a commercial center for the distribution of goods is hard to equal, backed up as it is with one of the finest Agricultural, Grazing and Fruit Growing Counties in the State its prosperity in this direction can easily be calculated by the average business man.

FIRST—It is located in the midst of an extensive and fertile farming country, thickly settled by farmers who have, heretofore, been compelled to travel miles for necessary supplies.

SECOND—A portion of this ranch has been divided up into small subdivisions, each of which will support a family. The surrounding country will aggregate nearly several thousand more all of whom must contribute to the support of this town.

THIRD—Located as it is about midway between Santa Rosa and Healdsburg with San Francisco and North Pacific R. R. passing through the entire ranch, affording transportation to the metropolis of the State, San Francisco, at less cost than any other place in the State.

FOURTH—There is a proposition to bridge Russian River that runs on the west, one and one-half miles, of Windsor, which will still open up a large, fertile country that will contribute to the support of Windsor which will make it the most convenient point for transporting their products to market and for obtaining supplies.

FIFTH—The town of Windsor with its magnificent climate; its productive soil; cheap, certain and rapid means of communication with the great city of San Francisco, must attract many who desire to avail themselves of a change of climate. There is no fog, no malaria nor chill winds to mar the pleasure of an evening in the open air.

SIXTH—There is no place in California that will equal Sonoma County in her never-failing crops. The so-called winters are never so cold as to retard vegetation. The most delicate plants and flowers continue to grow and flourish throughout the year.

TERMS OF SALE—One quarter cash, balance of purchase price in one, two and three years. Interest on deferred payments at the rate of seven per cent per annum, payable semi-annually. Special terms will be arranged with the purchasers of the five and ten acre tracts, where they desire to improve the same.

WHO GAVE $75,000?

The Munificent Gift for a New Church Building.

THE NAME OF THE GIVER STILL WITHHELD

Description of the Great Brick Structure for the St. Francis de Sales Church.

Yesterday was a big day in the parish of St. Francis de Sales. For two weeks it has been known that something of a very pleasant nature was in store for the members of the church, and about a week ago rumor had it that the surprise was none other than a generous gift of a new church building to the parish of Father McSweeney by some wealthy capitalist, and yesterday afternoon was the time set for the formal announcement to the members of the church. Of course the building was crowded, for everybody wanted to hear the good news, and not a few of those present were Christians not members of the Church of Rome. It was nearly 4 o'clock when Archbishop Riordan, Father McSweeney, Father King, Father Quille, Father Serda and others of the local Catholic ministry made their appearance at the altar.

The meeting was more of a business session than of a religious one, and Father McSweeney called for nominations for chairman. M. J. Keller was selected to preside, and B. McFadden was chosen secretary.

In taking his seat Mr. Keller said the meeting was an unusual one and in an unusual place, and on behalf of Father McSweeney he would explain its object. "One part of it," said he," the announcement of the magnificent donation will be thoroughly explained by his Grace, the Archbishop. The amount I understand is something like $75,000. The effect of that donation will be to liquidate about three-fourths of the indebtedness on the parish for the present and for the future. We well know the parish is under an obligation to bear its own expense. We have wondered how it could be accomplished. Some good Samaritan has come along and helped to solve the problem. It remains for us to do the balance. That person expects of course that the new church will be built unincumbered. To carry out these wishes it is necessary to liquidate the indebtedness resting upon the property where the church will be built. After thinking and talking it over with the pastor we have come to the conclusion that this can be done. We are not a wealthy parish so far as money goes, but we are wealthy so far as membership and good intentions go. It is the intention therefore, after his Grace announces to you the object of the meeting that a collection be taken up to accomplish the object in view. It is intended that the time for payment of the donations shall be extended for two years, so that people inclined or so situated who don't wish to pay their donations at the present need not do so until any time within two years. By that time the church will have been completed. As it goes up every one will see what this one donor has done for the parish. Besides this, I understand there are already voluntary subscriptions from five or six parishioners amounting to $8000 or $10,000 toward this fund. That being so seven-eighths of the indebtedness on the parish is undertaken by these people, so practically it remains with the parish as to who is to pay one-eighth of the liability of the parish for the present and the future."

Further Mr. Keller said that the debt of the parish at present is $23,000, of which $10,000 is already subscribed.

Then the Archbishop spoke:

"My dear people," said he, "your chairman has fully explained to you the object of having you here. I am here only to say again what he has said so well. When the time comes for asking for subscriptions I hope my powers of persuasion will be good as to induce you to assume the entire indebtedness. An indebtedness of $23,000 is not sufficient to frighten Catholic people who are accustomed to do great things for God and God's church.

"While Father McSweeney was pondering how to get rid of this debt,' continued the Archbishop, "a good person of this State offered the Archbishop $75,000 to build a new church in this parish, providing the indebtedness was removed. The money has been placed in the Archbishop's hands, and as fast as the indebtedness is paid off he will pay over the large sums intrusted to him. He said he would not dedicate the new church until every cent has been paid up, and for every $5000 paid up on the debt he will give Father McSweeney $15,000 of the money intrusted to him. It will take two and one-half years to build the church.

"I don't intend to leave here until the whole amount is covered by promises if it takes all night," said the Archbishop. "We may have a night session of it, in these times we have become such a commercial people and take such a narrow view of religion that donations of this kind are very rare. Here and there throughout the United States people are beginning to realize the privilege of being Christians by making donations to the churches. Considering the small amount of donations it is a marvel to many how Catholics build these beautiful houses of worship and their schools and hospitals. It is the penny of the poor that builds them. The Catholic church in the United States is under no compliment to rich Catholics. It is different with rich Protestants, who are generally very liberal. Rich Catholics do very little. A rich man frequently leaves his money to his children to lavish on what I will not name. What he refused to give to God the devil comes and takes in spite of him.

Then Archbishop Riordan called for subscriptions.

James Moffitt gave $1000.
Mrs. J. M. Driscoll gave $5000.
Mrs. James Canning $1500.
J. J. Hannifin $500.
James Cahill, $300.
J. B. McDonald, $800.
M. J. Keller, $300.
Mr. and Mrs. Nagle, $200.
Martin Gallagher, $200.
L. F. Hickey, $100.
John Taylor, $100.
Thomas Cordell and wife, $200.
Mr. Crowley, $100.
B. McFadden, $200.
Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter, $200.
Dr. Camron, $100.
Mrs. Corne, $100.
Mrs. H. Mathews, $200.
Martin Dunn, $200.
C. E. Gallagher and wife $25.
Robert Armstrong, $200.
J. A. Echlin, $25.
Mrs. Mary Russell, $20.
Miss Minnie Olcese, $50.
T. B. Moffitt, $500.
J. Crowley, $50.
John O'Connor, $5.
Bridget Killeen, $25.
Mr. and Mrs. Brockage, $50.
Mrs. Richardson, $20.

The subscription blanks were passed among the assemblage and when they had been collected it was announced that the total amount was $15,408 50.

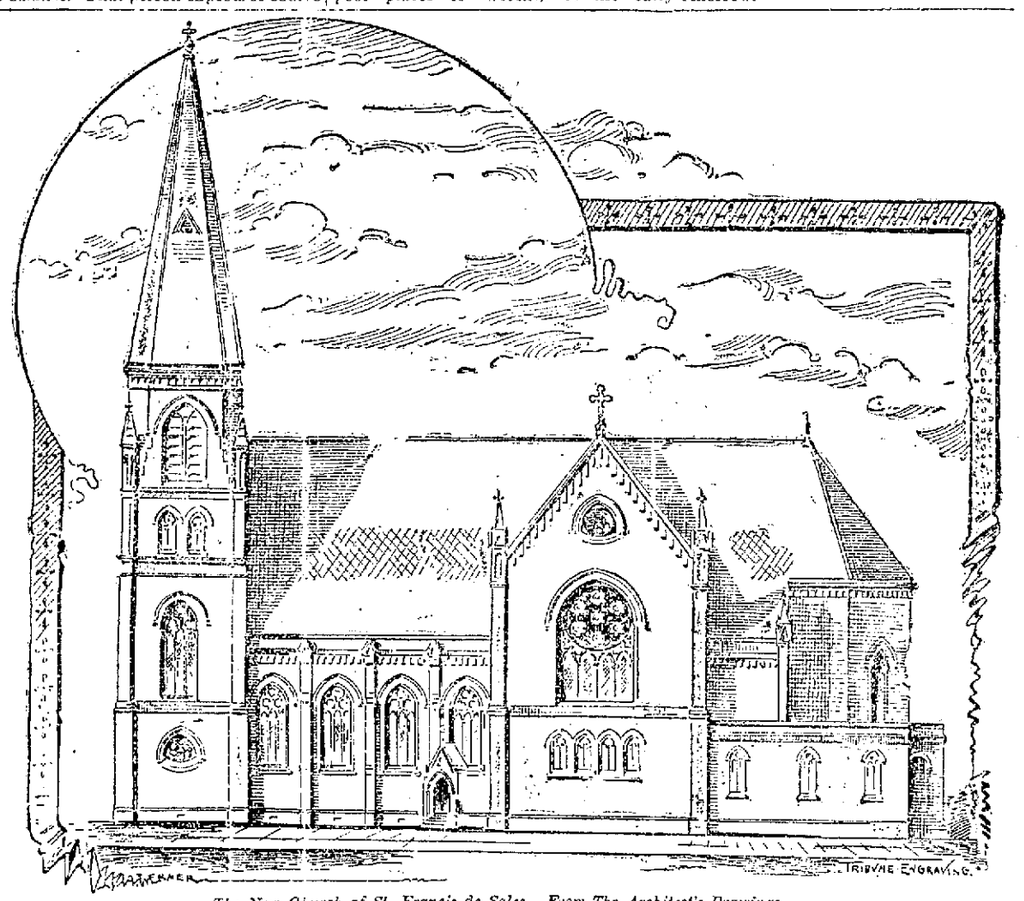
"Of course a great many belonging to the parish are not here today," said the Archbishop. "The committee will see that during the course of the next two months other members are approached, and I am confident the full amount will be subscribed. It is true that beautiful houses of worship are not necessary for the practice of our religion. Religion consists of union with God through hope, through faith, through charity." He spoke of the poor places of worship of the early apostles and Christians. The Middle Ages, he said, was the church-building age. "It was then that the stupendous cathedrals were built that modern parsimony is hardly able to keep in repair. Ireland is covered with beautiful churches, and wherever her people have gone you will find they have built grand churches to the honor and glory of God." He favored fine churches as showing the divinity of the Christian religion and serving as an attraction to young people to attend them. He closed with a beatiful panegyric on the life of St. Francis de Sales. The congregation was dismissed with a blessing.

And still the question is "Who gave the $75,000?"



The New Church of St. Francis de Sales. From The Architect's Drawings.

THE NEW CHURCH BUILDING.

A Magnificent Gothic Structure of Pressed Brick.

Probably a better idea of the new church for St. Francis de Sales' parish can be obtained from the accompanying cut made from a photograph of the plans on file in the architect's office than from a description of the proposed building, but still the picture conveys but a vague idea of the beauty and magnitude of the building which bids fair even to rival the new cathedral in San Francisco.

The building is of Gothic style of architecture, and will be built of brick with terra cotta trimmings. The front and side of the building will be of pressed brick. The new church will stand on the northeast corner of Hobart and Grove streets, and will have a frontage on Grove street of about 88 feet and a depth on Hobart street of 170 feet, with cross transepts 97 feet.

The main entrance will be on Grove street, and will consist of three doors, each being eight feet in width and approached by steps forty feet in width, there being eight steps from the sidewalk to the main floor.

The entrances lead to a spacious vestibule 14x40 feet in size on the left-hand side of which is the baptistry, 12x18 feet, and on the right the tower, 25 feet square. The entrance to the nave is through three eight-foot doors corresponding to the outside openings.

The general arrangement of the plan is cruciform, the interior consisting of a nave forty feet in width and about sixty feet high. The side aisles are twelve feet in width and about thirty feet in height and the transeps are forty feet in width and have a height corresponding with the nave.

The chancel is polygonal in form, forty feet in width and forty-four feet in depth, flanked on either side by bays twelve by eighteen feet each, at the sides of the chancel are spacious sacristies, each about forty feet square.

On the north and south sides of the church adjacent to the transeps are the side entrances. The tower at the corner of the two streets will be about 175 feet in height and has a belfry arranged for either a single bell or chimes. The roof will be slate.

The interior of the church will be finished in natural woods and will have a seating capacity of about the same number as the First Congregational Church. The windows, of which there are a great many, will be of the most beautiful and costly stained glass, many of which will be memorial windows put in by friends and relatives of departed residents of the parish of St. Francis de Sales.

The architect who prepared the plans and specifications of the new building is Charles J. I. Devlin of 240 Montgomery street, San Francisco.

WHO GAVE THE MONEY?

A Hint About the Benefactor of St. Francis de Sales Church.

A close guesser would name as the man who gives $75,000 for a new building for St. Francis de Sales Church James Canning, the capitalist of this city. He is reported to be the donor, but Father McSweeny will not say if the report is true. Mr. Canning formerly was a Protestant, but in mature life was convicted to Catholicism by his wife. Recently he sold a large block of property in San Francisco. Mrs. Canning yesterday contributed $1500 toward paying the present debt of the church.

IT WILL BE IDLE.

No Money to Furnish the New Engine House.

Chief Kennedy of the Fire Department, who now carries the keys of the completed Fifteenth-street engine house, was asked by a TRIBUNE man this morning when he expected to move into the building.

"Not until after July 1st I suppose," he replied, "for the house is not furnished and there appears to be no money in the treasury with which to fit it up."

It is expected that when the new building is occupied the rookery now in the possession of the fire department will be torn down.

NO ELECTRIC VAPOR.

A Franchise Cannot Be Granted to the Hoskins Company.

The Hoskins Electric-Vapor Motor Company, which applied to the Council for a franchise to construct and operate for 50 years a street railroad around the boulevard, will receive a knock-out blow at the meeting of the City Council tonight, for the application was referred to City Attorney Johnson by the Council, and this will be his report regarding it:

In my opinion the City Council is not vested with power to grant a franchise for a street railroad on which the cars are to be propelled by the motive power specified in the accompanying petition.

A Grand Juror's Inspection.

Grand Juror James Quinlan on Saturday afternoon went on a visit to the Consumers' Yeast & Vinegar Works at Fifth and Cypress streets. J. B. Hafele, a carpenter there, got into a squabble with the visitor and struck him. Hatele was arrested for battery, and his case will be called up tomorrow.

THE ROAD IS CLEAR.

EUROPEAN AND AMERICAN RAILWAYS.

The President of the Southern Pacific Company Says That Pooling Is a Necessity.

The annual meeting of the Southern Pacific Company is over and President Huntington is only awaiting clear weather and the completion of some business with his associates at Fourth and Townsend streets to make an inspection of the lines of the company.

The general officials have gone back to their desks after spending over the road in their private cars and telling their lieutenants to "clean up." The lieutenants are now improving the bad weather that keeps Mr. Huntington in San Francisco and are taking little trips through their bailiwicks in order to make the best possible show when the President does come. They are acting on A. N. Towne's hint, "If we don't run the road right some one will be brought out here who will."

A. D. Wilder has been jumping from one end of his division to the other, cleaning up here, repairing there and putting things in the best possible shape. He has succeeded in decorating the mole in all the colors of the rainbow, and he wants the rest of the division to correspond. He went to Stockton this morning.

W. B. Ludlow, the division car repairer, went south today on a little tour of inspection over his part of the service. He will visit the car-shops of Port Costa, Lathrop, Fresno and Tulare, all of which are under him.

Mr. Ludlow remarked that he is "just going to look around a little." As for Mr. Huntington's plans or the possibility of his inspecting the shops in question, he "didn't know anything about that."

Master Mechanic McKenzie has been on several similar trips lately and it is safe to say that the road will be in good order when Mr. Huntington makes an inspection.

President Huntington is still in San Francisco. He holds some very decided views on railroading, and does not hesitate to express them. The Southern Pacific Company, he says, is out of politics as far as he can take it. There are still a few who try to drag it back, but these are only individuals, and as a corporation it is out entirely. He is trying to stop all political work as fast as possible.

Mr. Huntington also draws a comparison between European and American railroad management. Fares are much cheaper here, and the service is much better than in Europe owing to keen competition. This competition, Mr. Huntington holds, is ruinous to the roads, so much so that few roads have the money to make extensions the country needs. The Southern Pacific Company is an instance. There are many extensions the company would be glad to make and which the country needs, but they cannot be made until the company is sure they will pay. The only remedy is consolidation and the pooling of issues.

He says that the Interstate Commerce act is driving the Asiatic trade over the Canadian Pacific and through the Suez canal, when it should come over American roads.

As for his investments in the East, Mr. Huntington says that he has invested all the money he ever made in California in this State, and more too.

THE NAPA VALLEY BRANCH.

How the Railroad Men Struck a Snag on the New Time Card.

The Southern Pacific officials seem not to know quite what to do with the Napa Valley branch. This branch was the main line of the original California Pacific Railroad, and was in operation long before the Central Pacific ever reached Oakland. It was, and is still, just long enough, so that one train and one crew can make two round trips over the road each day, and the old time card that was made years and years ago is still in operation, the one train carrying all the passenger traffic on this road. The passenger travel has increased as the valley is becoming more and more of a summer resort, and the train has grown in length, but that is all.

When the branch was put under A. D. Wilder it was brought more forcibly to the notice of the general office, and they saw that something would have to be done this summer. So J. C. Wilder got the time board out at the pie-table the other day and the officers began to figure. They wanted to give people more time in the Napa Valley on a one-day excursion, and figured on sending the morning train up half an hour earlier than at present, and bringing the afternoon train down half an hour later. J. C. Wilder stuck some pins in the board and then quit. He had struck a snag. Already the run from Vallejo to Calistoga, two round trips a day for one train and one crew, was unusually long, and to add an hour to the time of service was more than the men could stand, and all operation on the new time card has ceased.

It was intended to put a new stage service on in connection with this train service, but this project has been abandoned.

AFTER A HARD FIGHT

F. D. Black Wins in the Board of Supervisors.

LIQUOR MAY BE SOLD AT PIEDMONT HOTEL

Louis Giese, Who Could Not Sell Liquor Near Fabiola Hospital, Moves to Fruit Vale.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Supervisors was held at the Courthouse this morning. All the members were present and Supervisor Morgan presided.

E. D. Black and his attorney, R. M. Fitzgerald, were on hand early to look after their interests, and a few moments later A. A. Moore, T. C. Coogan and other counsel, who are opposing Black's application for a license to sell liquor at the Piedmont Hotel, came in. The opposing forces glared at each other across the room, and both sides looked expectant when the Supervisors retired into a side room with the District Attorney to consult on the matter of granting or rejecting the application. But it could not be told by the faces of the five Supervisors what they had decided to do when they emerged from their secret session, and the suspense during the formal opening of the board was very trying to Black and his coterie of supporters that sat beside him without the rail.

F. Boehmer called attention to the dangerous condition of the bridge on Prospect avenue, between the old and the new county roads, at Fruit Vale, and asked that the board take steps to have a new bridge built. The matter was referred to Supervisor Martin with power to act.

The report of Dr. M. L. Johnson, physician and surgeon in charge of the Receiving Hospital, for the month of March showed: Number of cases remaining from last month, 3; patients admitted during the month, 34; patients died, 1; sent to County Infirmary, 3; remaining in the hospital, 1. The report was placed on file.

J. H. Troy Jr. notified the board that a policy on the Woman's Building at the County Infirmary would expire on the 20th, and asked permission to renew the same.

The Judiciary Committee recommended that a license be granted to John Johnson of Mount Eden Grove and the board indorsed the recommendation.

Then Chairman Morgan of the Judiciary Committee arose and said:

Mr. Chairman: Since the adoption of our license ordinance there have been many difficult points for us to determine in the matter of granting permits to sell liquor. We have always endeavored to interpret the law in its simplest form and have always acted in what seemed to us a just and proper manner. We have had considerable difficulty in coming to an agreement in the matter of the application of Black, and we now submit our report.

As the report was opened by Clerk Overacker Black's face was a study, but when the words "recommend that the same be granted" were read Black could hardly control himself. He smiled and winked across the chamber at J. B. Marvin, and then childishly stuck out his tongue at the latter.

Before the resolution was voted on, Attorney Moore made a long speech against adopting the report of the committee, in which he charged that the board had not properly investigated Black's application.

Supervisor Brown replied that the whole matter had been gone over thoroughly and the board had decided the question of the legality of the indorsers of Black's license by a precedent already established in the case of Louis Giese, near the Fabiola Hospital.

Then the whole question was argued over again. The attorneys for the protestants argued long, and they traveled in the same road that they went over at the Judiciary Committee last Wednesday. They sent for stacks of legal documents in the suit of Marvin against Black and wanted to have them read, but Attorney Fitzgerald objected to the introduction of any more evidence, and Chairman Morgan decided that no more evidence could be admitted.

Then Mr. Moore objected to a vote being taken on the matter, as he declared the board had lost jurisdiction because the Judiciary Committee did not report at the first meeting after the matter was submitted to the committee, but Mr. Brown sat down on this by announcing that it was of record that the committee had been given further time by the board.

A vote was then taken on the matter of granting the Black license, and resulted as follows:

Ayes—Supervisors Brown, Bailey, Martin, Pelouze and Chairman Morgan.

Noes—none.

In the matter of the application of A. R. Graggel for a permit to sell liquors at the corner of Linda valley and Pleasant valley roads, R. Kennedy, N. E. Kron, George W. Boynton and F. Katzenberg, who endorsed the application, withdrew their names, and Myron T. Holcomb and fourteen others protested against granting the permit to Graggel. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

J. Palmbaum and N. M. Jenney were granted free peddlers' licenses to sell merchandise in the county.

Louis Giese, who was recently denied a license to sell liquor near the Fabiola Hospital, asked for a license to sell liquor in Fruit Vale. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Supervisor Brown announced that it has become necessary to make repairs to the road to Mountain View Cemetery and he would like to have an official grade established. On his motion, the County Surveyor was directed to establish the official grade of Piedmont avenue.

It is understood from Roadmaster P. J. Keller that the property owners will make an effort to have bituminous rock laid on that avenue by the county. They are willing to lay bituminous rock sidewalks on both sides of the avenue for its entire length if the Supervisors will pave the roadway with bitumen.

The board will meet again next Monday at 10 A. M.

FIGHT HIM EVERY STEP.

J. B. Richardson Prevents F. D. Black From Securing a Liquor License.

Although the Board of Supervisors decided that F. D. Black is entitled to a license to sell liquor at the Piedmont Springs Hotel, he cannot receive his license until the matter has been litigated in court. No sooner had the order been made by the Supervisors than J. B. Richardson, one of the protestants, swore to a complaint entitled J. B. Richardson vs. The Board of Supervisors and A. L. Stone, License Collector. In the complaint Mr. Richardson asserts that Black is not entitled to a license because he has not the number of names to his application required under the ordinance. It is charged that he represented that he is the only person to be interested in the business, while it is a fact that J. B. Marvin has an interest in the saloon. Mr. Richardson asked the court to issue an injunction restraining the defendants from issuing the license. Judge Ellsworth has issued a temporary restraining order until the case can be determined in court.

THE HASELTINE COLLECTION.

Celebrated Pictures on View in the Art Association Rooms.

On the Haseltine collection of pictures, now on exhibition at the rooms of the Art Association, San Francisco are some 270 paintings all owned by Charles F. Haseltine of Philadelphia, whose galleries are famous all over the country. The purpose is to sell the entire collection at private sale if possible, and if not at private sale, at auction. The value of the paintings ranges from $200 to $20,000 and the whole collection is valued at $500,000.

Munkacsy's "Morning in the Castle Grounds" attracts much attention. It is a garden scene. A woman, gowned in such frost-like raiment that she is a study in brilliant white, sit watching a child gathering flowers.

A delightfully self-satisfied soldier is the subject of De Neuville's "On Guard."

Bacquette's "First Lessons" shows a wheather-beaten old fisherman teaching a rosy youngster how to hold the rod.

There are two large canvases by Bertrand.

"The Toilet of Venus" is by Perrault.

There is a delightfully fresh, light hearted band of children romping in green meadows. This is by Keyser.

Corelli's "Romeo and Juliet" shows the historic lovers in a new attitude, and makes them both very bonny and very interesting.

Berne Bellecurs' "Captain of the Chasseurs," is almost photographic in its realism.

"The Wealth of Autumn" is a beautiful panel painted by Hans Makart. It is, next to the Munkacsy, the most highly prized work in the collection, and is valued at $7500. It is remarkable for its true, delicate coloring and truth to detail, and was the best picture which Market exhibited at the Centennial Exposition.

"The Skirmish" is a small painting of but 10x7 inches. It is by the great Detaille, and represents a cavalry company in action. It is a wonderful work, and one of the prizes.

There are some clever pictures by three of the greatest sheep painters known. "In for the night" and "Contentment" by Jacque are both in his best style. Brissot's "Inspecting the Flock" and Verboeckhoven's "Early morning" and charmingly natural pictures of the meek animal who is no much more attractive on canvas than he is in life.

Turner's "Rocks and Waterfall" is a little disappointing to admirers of his coloring. Landseer's "Lion Hunt" is a wonderfully spirited.

A FREE KINDERGARTEN.

The Helpful Institution for Little Ones at West Oakland.

A Course of Illustrated Lectures by Dr C. H. Steele for the Benefit of the School.

The West Oakland Free Kindergarten has been carried on in such a quiet way that many are not aware even of its existence, and do not realize the good work it is doing.

A few items in regard to this school may be of interest to the charitable public.

This enterprise was started by Miss Lizzie Betts in September, 1886, in a sunny room on the corner of Pacific and Peralta streets, where it has ever since remained, although needing larger quarters. The rent for the first year was paid by Mrs. T. B. Simpson, who has continued her interest in the school, always giving liberally to its support.

Miss Betts carried on the work with very little compensation until March, 1888, when the few subscribers met together and organized an association to raise the necessary funds and interest a larger number in the work. Miss Betts has always been at the head of the school, but has a new assistant each year. Miss Lillie Stetson is there at present. The sessions are from 9 to 12 o'clock. The vacations correspond to those of the public schools. Visitors are cordially welcomed always, but 9 A. M. is the best time to visit the school, as the children are then fresh for their games and songs. The average attendance during the past year has been forty-five.

Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper in a famous address said of the kindergarten work: "There is a steady stream of influence that flows back into families which tells for good, no matter how wretched and degraded the household may be. The parents come to feel that their children are of some value, and they treat them with more consideration and kindness. The children feel that some one loves them and they unfold and blossom like plants in the sunshine."

The managers of the West Oakland Kindergarten for the benefit of the school have arranged with Dr. C. H. Steele of San Francisco for a series of five stereopticon entertainments in the First Presbyterian Church, corner Fourteenth and Franklin streets, commencing each evening at 8 o'clock. The first will be on Tuesday evening, April 14th, "The Highlands and Lowlands of Scotland." The others will be on Tuesday, April 21st; Tuesday, April 28th; Friday, May 1st; Tuesday, May 5th.

These entertainments have lately been given in Calvary Church, San Francisco, to crowded audiences. One night, although the people brought umbrellas, the aisles in the gallery and about the door were packed with people, who remained standing for more than two and one-half hours.

These lectures are not to be classed with the varied and comic magic-lantern shows which are quite common. Dr. Steele will exhibit more than 500 original photographs of the most beautiful and historic scenes in the Old World. About half are colored. Each view is magnified thirty feet in diameter by a powerful oxy-hydrogen lime light.

They will give more instruction than can be acquired in the same length of time by any other means. It is the best method of studying geography and history.

Any further information in regard to the school or these entertainments can be obtained of the managers. President, Mrs. L. R. Baker; vice-president, Mrs. T. B. Simpson, Mrs. J. M. Merrill, Mrs. F. A. Bashford; secretary, Mrs. J. W. Shanklin; treasurer, Mrs. H. H. Rice. Other managers: Mrs. Irvin Ayres, Mrs. Robert Wall, Mrs. H. K. Belden, Mrs. George D. Gray, Mrs. A. C. Henry, Mrs. Samuel Newsom, Mrs. A. N. Bishop, Mrs. L. H. Whitehouse, Mrs. Thomas Bennett, Mrs. William Armes, Mrs. J. M. Hutchison, Mrs. Robert Smilie, Miss Abbie Brown.

FOUR THOUSAND A WEEK.

The Husband Who Spent All of His Bride's Savings.

Mrs. Jane Hurley has had a very unpleasant matrimonial experience, and in her application for a divorce from P. D. Hurley filed on Saturday she tells her story of how she was wronged by a cruel and designing man. Mrs. Hurley was alone in the world and had saved up a considerable sum of money, amounting to $4000 in cash, which she had deposited in the bank. When Hurley came along and offered to escort her on the journey through life she readily assented, and so they were married. The ceremony was not performed, however, until Hurley had entely wormed himself into the confidence of the woman whom he was about to wed and ascertained her exact financial standing. The second day after the marriage he secured $1400 from his bride, and whatever became of it she never knew. Certain she is that she never enjoyed a dollar of the money. The next day he told her he could invest the money in good securities for her, and she trusted him and turned over $2000 to his care. He invested it in stocks. Down went stocks, and every dollar of the investment was lost. The couple had been married just a week, and when all the money was gone away went the husband, leaving his bride to her fate. Now she wants a divorce on the grounds of extreme cruelty, failure to provide and desertion. P. F. Benson is her attorney.

POISONED HIMSELF.

A Man Who Probably Was a Resident of Oakland.

Chief Tompkins has received the following letter:

OFFICE OF THE
CORONER OF CONTRA COSTA COUNTY,
MARTINEZ, April 9, 1891.

DEAR SIR: On Wednesday, April 8th, I held an inquest on the body of an unknown man who died near the road about one mile south of San Pablo. There was nothing on the body that would lead to any identification, as the body was brought to the morgue at Martinez, where it still lies.

I shall hold the body for a few days before burial to see if some one won't come and identify it.

He asked one party how far it was to the Galindo Hotel.

He was dressed plain, had on gray pants, gray vest, blue sack coat, old brown overcoat, brown hat, large pair of shoes and carried two sacks in his hands. One contained salt, bread, coffee and bacon; the other contained his old clothes, one suit of blue underclothes, old white hat and two jumpers.

Description of man was as follows: About 5 feet 9 inches; weight about 175 pounds; full brownish beard. He seemed to be somewhat insane. It may be possible that the man came from Oakland or San Francisco, and I thought it my duty to notify you as you may hear some one inquiring for such a man. If so, please notify me immediately.

He did not look like a tramp. In his pocket he had a bottle of strychnine, which he no doubt had taken a dose of. If you hear of any one who has missed such a man, please notify me and I shall hold body.

A. J. CURRY, Coroner.

Direct Registered Mail.

At last the Postoffice has secured what it has long been fighting for—a through registered mail service to the East. Deputy Postmaster Fair today received such notification from Washington, with authority to make the change on the 27th inst. It will be of great benefit to the city of Oakland, inasmuch as it will mean no more delays through having the registered mail repouched at San Francisco.

REV. DR. F. A. HORTON.

Twentieth Anniversary of the Organization of His Church.

The Providence Journal of April 6th contains an interesting account of the services held in celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the organization of the Union Congregational Church, of which the Rev. Dr. Francis Allen Horton, formerly of this city, is pastor. Dr. Horton preached in the morning. In the evening Hon. Amos C. Barstow read a paper commemorative of the members of the church who have died. His closing sentences were as follows: "There are denominations thoroughly congregational in policy, who have no lack of freedom, either of opinion or of practice. But that freedom is avowedly sundered from the truth which alone is the power of God unto salvation. Are they noted for either spiritual life or Christian activity? Do they not illustrate the powerlessness of culture, and taste and intelligence, yet everything apart from Gospel truth? The truth that all are lost, that Christ alone can save, and even He only as He is made to be sin for us and we new creatures in Him, must not only be in our creeds, but a fire in our hearts and a power in our lives, transforming us into the likeness of Christ, if we would be channels of spiritual blessing to others. If in these days of upheaval anything whatever loosens our hold of these truths, no amount of human activity can atone for the absence of that power which God exerts through them for salvation, and so I congratulate this beloved church that Christ has given it a pastor eminently fitted to set forth and maintain the glorious gospel of the blessed God."

The Journal, referring to the Union Church, says: "Among its pastors have been divines of the foremost rank, such as Drs. Behrends and McIlvaine, and its present pastor, Dr. Horton, proves to be a worthy successor of his illustrious predecessors."

Irving Dramatic Club.

The Irving Dramatic Club gave another of its monthly dramas and dances at Elite Hall Friday evening. The drama Pavion's Slave was played and received hearty applause. The cast of characters was as follows:

Manuel De Foe	M. D. Cottrell
Ferdinand Sheepley	Sam Deal, Jr.
Major Napoleon Shortsleeves	J. E. Gilluley
General Briscoe	E. M. Armstrong
Walter Briscoe	Harry Stanley
Warden	R. E. Serle
Postman	J. H. Carrey
Mamie Briscoe	Miss C. Spear
Clothilde De Join	Miss Lena Deike
Patty Toogood	Miss Marie Parrotte
Butterworth Golight	Harry C. Conrad

Those who had charge of the affair are: H. C. Conrad, manager; J. W. Mathews, treasurer; T. S. Adams, representative; Sam Deal, Jr., stage manager. At the conclusion of the programme the hall was cleared for dancing, which was kept up until a late hour to music furnished by Clark's orchestra.

Mrs. Stetson's Lectures.

Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Stetson will deliver her lecture on "Social, Domestic and Human Life" on Tuesday evening April 14th, at the parlors of the Chabot Home. Admission 25 cents. The proceeds will be given to the County Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

This popular lecturer, who has the courage to follow in the wake of the great Stanley, Dr. Alger and her uncle, Edward Everett Hale, is not set on meeting with phenominal success, but is finding a place in the hearts of the people of San Francisco and Oakland that those dignitaries did not attain. She has spoken twice this week to enthusiastic audiences in Irving Hall, San Francisco, to the Century Club and the Girl's Debating Club of the high school, Oakland, and arrangements are making for one or more lectures before the Ebell Society.

Come let the joyous tidings roll,
From east to west, from pole to pole.
That woman's teeth, and lips and breath,
No more shall suffer worse than death,
For SOZODONT with magic sway
Preserves them now from foul decay.

HEALTH OFFICER DUNN.

The Board of Health Elects Him at a Special Meeting.

Dr. A. G. Anthony the New President of the Board—Paul J. Schafer Re-elected Secretary.

The new members of the Board of Health took their seats on Saturday evening without introductions. Dr. Anthony, Dr. Blood and Dr. Muller qualified during Saturday afternoon. They and Dr. Woolsey, one of the members whose terms have not expired, met in special session. Dr. F. L. Adams, the other "hold-over" member, was not present.

The secretary, Paul J. Schafer, called the board to order.

The first business was organization.

Dr. Woolsey moved that Dr. A. G. Anthony be elected president.

Dr. Blood having seconded the motion, Dr. Anthony was selected.

Dr. Anthony expressed his appreciation of the compliment and immediately called for nominations for Health Officer.

Dr. Muller placed in nomination Dr. J. P. H. Dunn, and Dr. Dunn was elected.

For secretary Dr. Blood nominated the incumbent of the office, Paul J. Schafer, saying that he is an efficient officer. Mr. Schafer thereupon was elected.

Dr. Woolsey said that he understood that the other officers were not to be elected at the meeting Saturday evening.

Dr. Blood said he had no such understanding. It is well known that the present officers, the Secretary and the Sanitary Inspector, are efficient officers, and as this board is electing its officers it might be well to elect all.

Dr. Woolsey called attention to the fact that one of the members was not present, and suggested that the matter of making other appointments be considered at a subsequent meeting.

Dr. Blood said that he would raise no objection. He had nominated an officer, the secretary, and he was satisfied.

The board re-enacted the order of business of the predecessors of the present new members and fixed the second Friday in each month as the regular time for meeting.

President Anthony announced the following committees:

Air, Water, Light and Food—Doctors Woolsey, Muller and Blood.

Streets, Mains, Sewers and Garbage—Doctors Blood, Anthony and Adams.

House Drainage, Plumbing, Street and Yard Sanitation—Doctors Adams, Woolsey and Anthony.

Prevailing Diseases and their Causes—Doctors Muller, Blood and Anthony.

Hospitals—Doctors Anthony, Woolsey and Muller.

The positions upon committees held by the president, Dr. Anthony, are the same as those filled by his predecessor, Dr. Pinkerton.

Dr. Woolsey moved that all existing regulations of the Board of Health be maintained. This motion prevailed and the board adjourned.

SPORTS OF THE REST-DAY.

Al Blow Sends the Gypsy Over the Line Ahead of Her Rivals.

The quarterly race of the Oakland Canoe Club for the Mayrisch badge took place on the estuary yesterday afternoon. There were only three entrees for the contest. Al Blow handled the Gypsy in such fine style as to send her across the line in first place. The course was three miles and the boats came in in the following order: Gypsy, sailed by Al Blow, in 47 minutes; Gnat, sailed by George Warder, in 48¾ minutes; Dart, sailed by Captain Olsen, in 49½ minutes.

The second monthly shoot of the Alameda County Sportsman Club at live birds was held at the Oakland Trotting Park Saturday afternoon. Bolander was the only shooter who made a perfect score. The scores were as follows: S. E. Knowles 10, S. I. Kellogg 6, H. Schroeder 8, H. B. Houghton 6, L. P. Bolander 12, C. F. Morrison 5, A. F. Adams 8, J. G. Bliss 7, C. B. Smith 10, C. M. Osborn 10, R. The Colonels were badly rattled at San Jose yesterday, and as a result lost the game with the Garden City team. Stephens was in poor form, and was batted for fourteen hits. The Colonels lost the game by a score of 12 to 5.

The game at the Oakland grounds yesterday morning between the San Francisco and Sacramento teams was won by the former by a score of 5 to 1. The same clubs played in San Francisco during the afternoon, and the San Franciscos lost by a score of 5 to 0.

Edward Mara, the Syracuse twirler, who has been signed by Colonel Robinson, arrived in this city last evening and has reported for duty.

An interesting game of cricket was played at the Alameda grounds yesterday between the Alameda and the Burnaby teams. The contest, which was won by the Alamedas, was very close. The score is as follows:

MRS. GRAY'S BENEFACTIONS.

Gifts to Good Works, Amounting to $182,000.

Mrs. Mary M. Gray, wife of Rev. E. H. Gray formerly of the First Baptist Church of this city, but now of the Pacific Theological Union, has taken a deep interest in good works all her life. Her contributions to the various religious benevolent and educational societies with which she has been connected have been on a magnificent scale and entitle her to a high place among philanthropists. Among her most important donations are the following:

Three brick houses in the city of Albany, N. Y., to the Howard Mission of New York city, of which Mr. Van Meter was then superintendent.

Five hundred dollars to the Gillett Club of Calvary Baptist Church of New York city.

One thousand dollars towards educating the freedmen of the South.

One thousand dollars to aid in building churches for the Southern colored people.

A deed in trust to Mr. C. F. Fox for a three-story brick house in Washington city for a home in the District of Columbia for indigent and homeless Baptist women.

One thousand dollars to Columbian College, through Dr. Sampson.

Deeded a valuable lot in the town of Keene, N. H., to the First Baptist Church of that place, of which Mrs. Gray had been a member.

One thousand dollars to aid Wayland Institute (for colored people) in the District of Columbia.

One thousand dollars to defray traveling expenses to the Holy Land of Rev. Charles H. Hobart, then assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church of Oakland.

Five hundred dollars, through Mrs. Isabella Beecher Hooker, to aid in the special education of women.

Five hundred dollars to the Young Men's Christian Association of Oakland.

Deeded a house and lot in the town of Vallejo to the Baptist Church of that place.

Fifteen hundred dollars to remove the debt from the First Baptist Church of Oakland.

Twenty thousand dollars to aid temperance young men in the ministry to obtain libraries.

Fifty thousand dollars to the Missionary Union for foreign mission work.

Forty-five thousand dollars in cash and deeds of real estate to the Home Mission Society of New York.

To the Pacific Baptist Theological Union, $14,000 in cash, and real estate worth about $25,000.

Ten thousand dollars in cash for the campus of California College at Highland Park.

To relatives and friends, deeds of separate properties varying in value from $1000 to $6000; and to various individuals from $25 to $2000, as she was moved by circumstances.

Besides there are a number of smaller donations, the whole aggregating more than $182,000.

KING'S DAUGHTERS.

A Quarterly Meeting and a Very Interesting Lot of Reports.

Last Friday afternoon the King's Daughters of the First Presbyterian Church held their quarterly meeting, Miss H. Simpson presiding. Miss Agnes Fortin read the treasurer's report, showing the receipts to have been $372 60, which has been disbursed for charitable purposes.

Miss Nellie Fuller read a report of work done "In His Name," and Miss Laura Moore of the work of the Social Ten. The 60 cents of the Financial Ten has increased to $127. Reports were also received from the Silent Ten and the Prayer Meeting Ten.

Miss Eva Berry, the first vice-president, gave a report of the furnishing of a room in the Fabiola Hospital at a cost of $150, which was cleared by a successful entertainment.

Miss Humphrey, the second vice-president, reported work in the home-mission field.

Reports of other work were made by Miss Lundy and Miss Lelia Darrough.

Miss Simpson read an interesting letter from Mrs. Stebbins, the wife of the gospel singer, upon Old-World travel.

Æsop has told us the tale of a mule which, from overfeeding, galloped about and felt gay, saying to himself: "My father, surely, was a high-mettled racer, and I am his own child in speed and spirit." Next day he was sick and weary; he then exclaimed: "I must have made a mistake; my father, after all, could have been only an ass." A man, after eating a good dinner, may feel extravagantly joyous; but next day (I don't mean you to infer he feels like an ass) he is surly and grim, his stomach and liver are sluggish, he is morose, despondent and "out of sorts" generally. Dyspepsia, Biliousness and all derangements of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is an unequaled Remedy. Contains no alcohol to inebriate; no syrup or sugar to ferment and derange the digestive processes. It cleanses the system and cures pimples, blotches, eruptions and all Skin and Scalp Diseases. Scrofulous affections, as Fevercores, Hip-joint Disease, Swellings and Tumors, yield to its superior alterative properties.

THEY PUT ON STYLE.

PEN PICTURE OF CONGRESS IN SESSION.

NEW YORK, March 30, 1891.

Slipped away from Pittsburg between two days and took the Pennsylvania Limited for Washington. Long before reaching the capital the Washington monument can be seen, standing out against the sky in all its massiveness and grandeur. Then the Capitol building comes into view, gradually becoming more clearly defined as the train approaches the city.

Pennsylvania avenue is soon reached, being but a block from the depot. It is a very wide thoroughfare; the Capitol is situated at the east end and the Treasury Department at the western point, where the avenue turns to the right. Took quarters at the Willard House, which was at one time the principal hotel in Washington, but is now far behind the Arno and other modern hotels.

During my stay I was quite amused to see the style affected by the wives of Congressmen, who were stopping at the hotel. While in most cases the husbands were plain and unassuming, my lady and her daughters were very stately in their walk and demeanor. They causse chez around in a new gown at each meal, evidently imbued with the idea that they had a hand in the affairs of State. At the same time their table manners proved a dead give-away. They outraged nearly all the canons of polite etiquette, and I shouldn't be surprised if some of them drank out of the finger-bowls.

Our friend Colonel Irish dropped in at the Willard during the closing days of the last session. His melodious bass voice could be heard throughout the corridors as he explained to Congressman Geary of California and Congressman O'Neill of Texas just how it happened that he did not secure the honors from the Third district. I believe he said something about not having votes enough.

Senator Pfeffer of Kansas attracted considerable attention in the hotel one afternoon as he strolled around looking like a backwoodsman from Missouri. Colonel Irish kindly called me to one side and explained that the lean and lank individual was no other than the now famous Senator. The farmers of Kansas must be a poor lot if Pfeffer is any criterion to judge by.

Looking over the hotel card designating the principal points of interest in Washington, I saw that it would take a week or ten days to go the rounds, so concluded to forego the pleasure of visiting Mount Vernon, Arlington and other places. My first object was to see the monument, which is situated a quarter of a mile south of Pennsylvania avenue, on Fourteenth street. Approaching the monument, its immense proportions impress one very much. As you draw near and cast your eye along its severe outlines, it appears to recede, which is probably due to its conical shape. Some people become dizzy by looking at it. The total height of the monument is 555 feet. In the interior an elevator capable of holding thirty persons make half-hourly trips to the 500-foot level. It takes nine and one-half minutes to make the ascent. Saw the stone contributed by California in 1850. It is set in 130 feet from the base. A magnificent panorama stretches out on all sides, but the cold wind which whistles around the top of the monument makes sight-seeing uncomfortable.

The Corcoran art gallery should not be missed by visitors to the city. Was sorry that I only had two or three hours in which to view the paintings and statuary. In the library of the Department of State the original Declaration of Independence is framed. It is now yellow with age and the signatures are barely decipherable. The National Museum, Smithsonian Institute and Bureau of Engraving are the other places worth seeing. After seeing the above places I turned my steps toward the Capitol. When close up I was surprised to notice that the Goddess of Liberty faces the east instead of toward the west or principal part of the city. What I had taken for the entrance to the Capitol is in reality the rear. I determined to ascertain the reason of this evident peculiarity, and soon found a gentleman who explained that the Capitol was built before there were any buildings in that section. It was the intention to build the city on the high ground to the east of the Capitol, but speculators bought up all the land and raised the price so high that persons desiring to locate in the city refused to be gauged and turned their attention to the low, marshy land to the west, which was held at very reasonable figures. The result was that the speculators got left and the swamps were reclaimed and now form the principal part of the city. Congress has recently appropriated funds for the purpose of erecting fountains, statues, etc., in the rear of the Capitol, or what is now the real entrance, so that in a short time it will present a much improved appearance.

On reaching the floor on which the House is located, I created quite a laugh among Congressmen and others as I made a break to pass the doorkeeper. Was called back and gently assured by the doorkeeper that I was in the House of Representatives, and as he did not recognize me as a Democratic statesman I probably belonged to the other side of the House. Everyone seemed to be in good humor at the prospect of adjournment. Crowds flocked into the galleries and lobbies. Cards were sent in by many people to their representatives in order to secure seats in the member's gallery. Sent in my card to Congressman McKenna and he came out and procured a good seat in the gallery where he pointed out a number of Congressmen more or less distinguished. Congressman Morrow was very busy attending to committee work.

The House was in a perfect uproar, there being not the slightest semblance of order or decorum. A Congressman was on his feet speaking his little piece, but he did not have a single hearer outside of the House reporter. The Speaker tried to pay some sort of respectful attention but he was constantly interrupted by clerks and members who wished to say a word or two in private. On both sides of the House members were gathered in groups, discussing various questions; here and there members were clapping their hands to attract the attention of the pages; others again were reading or writing, walking up and down the aisles or smoking in the cloakrooms and lobbies.

Speaker Reed allowed things to run along in this manner until it was necessary to take a vote on the pending measure. Then he pounded on the desk with his gavel and drawled out in his own peculiar way: "Will the House please be in order. The gentlemen in the aisles will please take their seats and cease conversation. Will the member from Ohio please be seated or adjourn to the cloak-room." When a member is named in this manner a titter runs through the House, in which the galleries join. When quiet was partially restored the question was put and carried without division. Then the hubbub commenced again; members left their seats and joined in general conversation, while another statesman with a loud voice obtained the floor to advocate some measure.

A man who simply makes flowery speeches does not count in Congress, but one who never rises to speak unless he has something to say, and who says that something in a clear and concise manner, is always accorded attention. I noticed that when Mr. Morrow took the floor the House came to order in an instant, and although he spoke in an easy, quiet manner nearly every member listened to him, which certainly was a great compliment. Congressman McKenna is another worker who is not gifted with eloquence, but who is effective nevertheless.

In the Senate there appeared to be more dignity, although but few members were in their seats. The majority of Senators looked tired and worn out as they sat around on sofas in the corners. John J. Ingalls looked very picturesque with his grey hair, gold spectacles and flowing red scarf. He sat in his seat apparently unconscious about the bill under discussion.

Senator Plumb of Kansas seemed to be on the floor all the time, and different Senators yielded to him, on every bill which came up. He is a plain, ordinary looking man, but is one of the hardest workers and best informed members of the Senate. At 1 o'clock in the morning of the last day I stepped into the Senate and found him still at his desk fighting for the Subsidy and Copyright bills.

At Baltimore I met William J. Guard, son of the late Rev. Dr. Guard, who at one time preached in San Francisco. Guard attended the Oakland High School in '77 or '78 and was one of the worst "cut-ups" in his class. He is now on the Baltimore Herald staff and is doing very well. I understand he married one of Baltimore's handsomest belles.

Philadelphia struck me as being rather a slow town. During the twenty-four hours that I remained there saw nothing worthy of mention outside of the magnificent Government building opposite the Pennsylvania depot.

Two hours' ride brought us to Jersey City, where we boarded the ferryboat for New York. The boats are built on the same lines as our ferryboats, but the cabins are down-stairs and located on the sides, as in the steamers Capital and Garden City. Some are very neat, while others are little better than cattle-pens.

We had some difficulty in landing on the New York side on account of the ice in the slip. The steamer was compelled to back up and make a run before a successful landing was made. A gang of hackmen offered their kind services in about the same fashion as the San Francisco hotel-runners. Having been informed as to the proper cars to take to reach my hotel I was able to dispense with their offers of assistance, at the same time apologizing for knowing so much.

On reaching Broadway I recognized the fact that at last I had arrived at the metropolis of the United States. Large mercantile houses and hotels on both sides of the street; then Park row with its newspaper buildings, including the new sky-scraping World building, came into view as we proceeded up town.

Madison square was reached about 10:30 P. M., and after registering at the Hoffman House took a look at the celebrated $50,000 painting in the barroom. I am told that few visitors to New York miss seeing this picture.

Among the new buildings worthy of note is the World building, which has twenty-six floors on twenty-two stories. The total height of the structure is 373 feet, or 100 feet higher than the Auditorium tower in Chicago. Unlike the Auditorium access to the cupola of the World building does not cost 25 cents. The view is very fine—the Atlantic ocean can be seen and the horizon forty-five miles away. North and East rivers, the Sound, all of Brooklyn, Liberty Island, the Narrows, Jersey City and Harlem bridge can also be seen on a clear day.

The Equitable building is the costliest office building in New York, $1,459,000 is the total amount paid for its erection and the improvements made from time to time.

The Hotel Imperial and New Plaza Hotel are handsomely fitted up and are veritable palaces of beauty. In the latter hotel there are some beautiful paintings and fresco work. In one corner there is a painting of a lion, which is placed three or four feet behind iron bars. The result is highly realistic, and I have seen ladies draw back with fright when coming suddenly upon the painting.

New York has long since outgrown her present method of passenger transportation. The elevated lines are no longer "rapid transit" lines, as the stations are too close together to make speed possible. The city is behind other large cities as far as cable and electric roads are concerned. Broadway is the main artery of travel, as it cuts across all the other streets diagonally from the Battery to Harlem. It could not accommodate the immense traffic, even were it twice as wide; so it can easily be imagined how congested it must be at present.

I found that the business men are even greater rustlers than those of Chicago. Competition is strong, and in order to keep up with the procession a man not only has to burn his candle at both ends, but in the middle as well. Diversified interests seem to be the rule throughout the East. A merchant is not content to confine himself to one line, but is continually branching out, so that now the term "dry goods house" means a store where anything can be purchased from a threshing machine to a cambric needle.

A system of checks and cashiers is in use here in all classes of business. Nothing is left to the honesty of employes. A man is generally looked upon as a thief until he proves himself otherwise. In the wooly West it is just the opposite, as I tell the Easterners.

GOSSIP.

At the Casino the familiar face and form of Edwin Stevens of the San Francisco Tivoli is a treat to Californians. He takes the part of the "Impressario" in the opera Four Jonathan, and keeps the audience in a roar all the time.

Hattie Moore, also of the Tivoli, has a leading part in Reilly and the Four Hundred at Harrigan's Theater. The play is one of the hits of the season and is a take-off on Ward McAllister.

Neil Burgess has been playing at the Union-Square Theater in The Country Fair for over three years to crowded houses. One of the features of the play is a genuine horse race on the stage. By means of treadmills and moving platforms three or four horses are ridden at a break-neck speed by their jockeys. They remain in front of the audience for about a minute, when one horse gradually forges ahead and wins the race. He is then brought up to the footlights panting and foaming, amid the cheers of the audience. Denman Thompson has been playing Old Homestead for over four years at the old Academy of Music. This shows the wonderful capacity of the city for amusement. It is calculated that there are from 500,000 to 1,000,000 strangers in the city daily.

Met Fred Emerson Brooks on the "L" one afternoon. He is a full-fledged New Yorker, and is not likely to return to California for some time. His services are in demand at nearly all the banquets and entertainments, and I judge he is making a success, financially and otherwise.

Sterling Wallace of Oakland is still in the electric appliance business in Nassau street. He contemplates a trip to South America in the near future. On my way to his studio I met Miss Clara McChesney on Broadway. She tells me that while she is very successful with her painting and has a large class of pupils, still she has to "rustle" or get left. In speaking of the reporters who visit her for the purpose of writing up her rooms or her personal appearance, she remarked that the newspaper men never reported facts, but drifted off into the realms of fancy until it became quite painful. The color of her hair seems to be one of the strong points with those who describe her personal appearance. Unfortunately her principal paintings were on exhibition in Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston, but there were two or three sketches which possessed high artistic merit.

Ed Winslow was a valuable assistant in my wanderings, and it was with a homesick feeling that I said goodby to him when he left for the West.

Am indebted to Calvin Bruce and Dan Lamont for numerous courtesies while in New York. They are both about as busy as it is possible for a man to be, but managed to spare time to do the honors.

Should judge that Eastern men are fully as hospitable, if not more so, than our California brethren. They all speak very highly of California, and those who have not made the trip express a desire to see the country.

Just at present the Eastern press are having a fling at our Legislature and seem to think that "boodle" is the only thing sought for by the average State Senator or Assemblyman. It certainly is doing our state considerable harm.

New York weather is "beastly." Were it not for the climate the city would be just the place to live, if one were compelled to live outside of California.

Through the kind offices of Mr. McKenna I was enabled to have a private interview with President Harrison, who reminded me somewhat of Josiah Ames. In speaking of his proposed trip to the coast the President said that he had not decided whether to go or not. The overland trip is long and tedious, and in addition to the fatigue of the journey he would be compelled to shake hands with a great many people, which is more tiresome than the trip.

We assured him that the Californian would accord him a hearty welcome and would feel honored by his presence. The President replied that he felt sure of a cordial reception but could not make up his mind about it. J. E. MORRIS.

THE SAILOR WAS BURNED.

He Pours Oil on the Fire and Is Badly Wounded.

William Henniger, a sailor employed on the schooner Yosemite, which is anchored at the foot of Grant street, Alameda, received horrible injuries yesterday afternoon. He was not satisfied with the manner in which the fire in the stove was burning, and in order to brighten it up he poured some coal oil on the coals which blazed immediately. The fire communicated to the oil in the can and an explosion occurred, and the poor sailor was enveloped in flames. He ran out of the house and was assisted by Louis Schroeder and others who were near the scene at the time. Henniger was removed to the Receiving Hospital, where it was found that his body and face were badly burned. Dr. Johnson dressed his wounds. The patient is 40 years of age, a native of Prussia and resides at 1015 York street, San Francisco.

THE PLEAURES OF FOOT BALL

Two High-School Players Bourne Wounded From the Field.

The Hopkins Academy Football Club Maintains Its Unbroken Record of Victories.

Saturday the Hopkins Academy team, which has an unbroken string of victories to its credit, met the Oakland High School team at the Alameda grounds. Fully 1500 spectators assembled to see the match between the representative teams of Oakland, and the bleachers were crowded with members of the fairer sex.

M. Taylor was chosen referee and Mr. Rising umpire. Having won the toss, Hopkins Academy chose kick off, and soon Sherman had rushed the ball down very near to the northern goal, but here the Hopkins were held.

Wilder made a short run for the High School, but immediately afterward the ground was lost and Hopkins got the ball.

Levens was given the ball and made a run across the field, when he was tackled by Gouing, who, thinking it in touch on account of a flag held by a bystander, let him go, whereupon Levens ran behind the goal and made a try, which Allen converted into a goal. For the rest of this half the ball was kept in the middle of the field. Collier of the High Schools had his ankle severely injured and was compelled to leave the field. Young, the sturdy center rush of the High Schools, was knocked senseless and was carried off the field. Then occurred one of the disagreeable features of the football game. White, the Hopkins captain, objected to one of the High School players, and threatened to leave the field and protest the game. Wilder would have let him carry out his threat, but he did not wish to disappoint the spectators, who wished to see a game. White wanted to argue the case then and there, instead of waiting till the association meeting. At length the game went on with the objectionable player in it. Shortly after, time was called for the first half.

The second half began with a dribble, Dutton taking the ball and making about twenty yards. Then Wilder made another run of twenty yards. But, here the High School boys felt the absence of their players and were unable to force the ball in. Having lost several yards, Wilder took the ball still farther so as to keep it, but Taylor, the referee, got rattled and gave the ball to Hopkins Academy. Sherman, who by the way is a magnificent player at this kind of a game, forced the ball by continual rushes down to the High School twenty-five-yard line, where he lost it. He was assisted somewhat by Levens and White, who, however, lost ground about as often as they made any, and who found they could not get past Taylor, the end rusher. When the High Schools got the ball they kicked it, but it was returned by Allen. The ball fell and bouncing up hit White in the chest and then Wilder. Levens picked up the ball and ran behind the goal.

The try counted and Allen, the fine kicker, kicked a goal. Time was soon after called, Hopkins winning the game by a score of 12 to 0.

The teams were made up as follows:

The Academicians owe their victory entirely to Sherman's fine jamming and the weakness of the High School team, which was without five of their best players and so were unable to play well together. The teams will probably play again after Field Day.
